FITTS-BUNKER MER. CO., Oregon, Mo.

—Messrs Minton & Dean have opened a stock of groceries at Napier.

—At the teachers examination which was held at this place last Friday and Saturday, thirty-seven took the work. Four first grade certificates were issued, six second grade and twenty-one third grade.

—The Oregon High school articulates fully and unconditionally with the State University and the other leading colleges of the country. Parents in this and adjoining counties should keep this in mind and send their children to this place in order to secure a good, thorough, practical education.

—The rural mail carriers of Holt county are now all happy; they are now receiving the full salary, $720 per annum. Our article elsewhere in this issue should be read by every carrier. Men cannot furnish a horse and rig and work for less. The people of our county are wonderfully pleased with the service and would not part with it for twice the money. It is only a question of a few years when we will have solid delivery all over the country, with practically every farmer reached.

—In time of vacation, to paraphrase an old saying, prepare for school. Now is the season of the year when countless parents are considering to what schools they shall send their children. It is a problem really greater than that of a few weeks ago as to where they should spend their summer, for there are so many good schools, and there is so much to be said in favor of most of them, but we can safely say that no better High school is to be found in this section of our state, than the Oregon High school. The environments are ideal. Our school opens next Monday, September 5. Send your children to Oregon, and our word for it, both parents and children will be satisfied.

—Schools will begin work next Monday.

—Parents desiring to place their children in one of the best schools in the state should send them to Oregon.

—J. W. King and family have moved to town, and are occupying the Mrs. C. W. Pierce property. He moves here to give his children the advantages of our fine schools.

—John Goodhart and his son-in-law, Ed. Watson, were in town, Wednesday, en-route home from a trip in Colorado. John says they had a nice time, but Ed was always wanting to get home to see his wife and babies.

—Mike Moran and "Fire Alarm" Flanagan met in joint debate at Craig during the recent reunion, and just as Moran had reached the climax of his peroration, a passing donkey began to bray. The braying continued for a minute or more, much to the amusement of the audience. Flanagan was quick to take advantage of the incident, saying: "This is the first time in my life that I have ever heard two great orators of the Democratic party talking at the same time."

—There is another new skin game. A man walks into a store and buys $5 or $10 worth of goods, tells the storekeeper to keep the goods until he calls for them at a certain date and gives a $50 or $75 check on a bank in payment, says the Hannibal Journal. The check is taken to the bank and returned marked "N. G." At the date given the man comes in for his goods and is informed that the check is not honored. He curses the bank, but pays for the goods, starts for the door, then walks back and asks for his check. He gets it with the merchant's indorsement. In a few days the merchant is notified of a check cashed bearing his indorsement. The merchant then weeps.

The Markets.

Special to THE SENTINEL:
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Wednesday, August 31, 1901. Cattle markets last week after Wednesday were not much changed in price, but there was more activity on all kinds toward the end of the week, 35,000 cattle have been received in three days this week, and market is lower than close of last week. Beef steers brought $6.00 last week, but the number good enough to bring over $5.50 is small, and it don't look like they could lose anything in price for several months. However, buyers of the best cattle are indifferent this week, and they are selling slow and somewhat lower. Medium grades including grass stuff, are also lower this week, but country kinds of cattle are steady to strong. Of course, between 10 and 50 per cent of the cattle now coming to this market, are this class of cattle. Grass steers sell at $3.00 to $4.75, she still $2.25 to $3.50, corn fed cows and heifers $3.50 to $4.70, veal calves sharply higher $4.25 to $5.25, stockers and feeders $2.75 to $4.00, common stock cattle including cows and bulle, and canning stuff, is very low $2.25 down. The supply today is 7,000 head, market about steady.

Hog markets have had an upward tendency for some time. Market today is steady to strong, run moderate at 7,000 head. Prospective top price today $5.50, the same as yesterday, bulk $5.35 to $5.45. Receipts of hogs are moderate at all points, and there don't seem to be any reason why prices should not remain as good as now.

Sheep and lamb receipts are increasing rapidly and are largely Westerns. Markets have been steady to strong for 10 days or more, and lambs gained 10 to 15 cents yesterday. Grass westerns sold at $5.75, and small bunches of good natives sold at the same price last week. Muttons bring $3.25 to $4.00, and feeding wethers up to $3.60, feeding ewes $3.30, breeding ewes $3.00. A good many sheep are now being taken out to the country.

Death of Mrs. C. J. Warner.

Died, on the 29th inst., at her home in Mound City, Mo., Mrs. Mary S. Warner, wife of Rev. C. J. Warner, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church. Mrs. Warner has been a sufferer about two years, diabetes being her ailment. Her right foot became affected with gangrene, and despite the skill of the best physicians her condition continued to grow worse. About 10 days prior to her death, as a last resort a surgical operation was performed, the great toe of the right foot being amputated. This gave no relief, and soon thereafter it became evident that death was inevitable, and that very soon the grim reaper would come.

Deceased was the daughter of John W. and Mary Smith. She was born near Jacksonville, Ill., June 29, 1855. She moved with her parents to Missouri in 1865, settling in Harrison county, where she resided until June 6, 1874, when she was united in marriage with Rev. C. J. Warner, at Bethany, Mo.

Mrs. Warner was the mother of eight children, four of whom died in infancy. Three daughters and one son, her husband and her aged father are left to mourn her death.

Deceased was a faithful follower of the lowly Nazarene, having become a Christian in early life. She possessed many traits of character worthy of emulation.

The death of Mrs. Warner brings a pang of sorrow to many of our citizens, who, while her husband was in charge of the M. E. church here, made many warm friends, who to know her was but to love her.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday, September 3, at 1:30 p. m. at the M. E. church, Mound City, by Presiding Elder E. B. Lytle.

LABOR DAY CELEBRATION AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Under the auspices of the Building Trades Council of St. Louis and vicinity, the celebration Monday, September 5, is to be given national scope. The parade, which is expected to include 20,000 men, with twenty bands, will start from the French pavilion at 10:30 a. m. and be reviewed by the general officers, with President Francis, at the Louisiana monument. In the afternoon short addresses will be made by national labor leaders and by Joseph W. Folk and Cyrus P. Walbridge, nominees for governor. Later there will be an athletic tournament, and in the evening, at 7:30, a mammoth fireworks exhibition.

SUMMER CARE OF FEET.

Simple Treatment Which Will Insure Freedom from Discomfort and Trouble.

The discomfort which is caused by aching and burning feet in summer usually be avoided if the right care is given them. The pores of the feet are large and much of the waste of the body is cast out through them. So there is the necessity of bathing them at least once a day, and twice, morning and evening, is better. As a rule, says the Prairie Farmer Magazine, too much soap is used in the foot bath, for soap dries the skin and causes burning. Only pure toilet soap should be used, and before drying the soapy water should be rinsed from the feet by plunging them in clear water.

It is the habit of many people to put on their stockings and shoes as soon as they step from the bed. This is a bad practice, as the feet are in a warm, perspiring condition, and should be bathed, or at least aired, before they are encased in shoes and stockings. To prevent blistering and burning of the feet in warm weather a good toilet powder is almost a necessity. Sprinkled on the feet after a bath and in the shoes before they are slipped on this proves cool and soothing to the heated skin.

From a hygienic standpoint white or tan stockings are preferable to black, as the dye used in the black stockings is injurious to the feet. Three pairs of shoes should be kept in service, a pair to be worn alternating weeks, and a light pair to be worn at home while resting. After a long walk or a day's work, if the feet burn, bathe them for a few moments in tepid salt water, then slip on a pair of cool, thin shoes. This relieves the aching for the present and also puts the feet in condition for comfortable service the next day.

Many people have an idea that a thin shoe is the easiest one. So it is for the parlor, but for walking no more undesirable shoe can be worn, as the leather is too thin to protect the feet from the hard pavements, and a calloused, blistered skin results. A foot-form shoe—that is, one so shaped that the foot rests in its natural position in the shoe—made by heavy but soft, pliable leather, is the one which should be chosen for every day. Patent leather shoes, water-proof shoes and rubbers all prevent respiration, and as no part of the body can be healthy without the required amount of fresh air, so the feet confined in an air-tight casing are soon put in an unhealthy condition.

MODES OF THE SEASON.

Fanciful Features of the Costumes Now Attracting Feminine Attention.

A great deal of black is worn among the fashionables, and it seems to have a distinction the much-seen pale colors never quite attain.

In two-toned laces are combinations of champagne and Delft blue, ivory and butter and willow green and ecru.

Linen embroidery stocks have an extra strip of embroidery to go all the way down the front of the waist.

Long coats are surely creeping back into vogue, if, indeed, they can be said ever to have gone out.

Beautiful embroidered flouncings are shown for entire skirts, to be made in the full shirred style.

Colored silk gloves, showing white between the fingers, probably have more use than beauty.

With her sporting shirtwaists the summer girl wears four-in-hands of madras, pique or duck.

Novel color effects are produced in evening gowns by placing one color over another.

Black satin is recommended as the best sort of petticoat for all-around serviceable wear.

White stockings covered with a network of black vines are pretty and cool-looking.

Even the necktie is wonderfully wrought upon with hand embroideries.

Boleto jackets of Irish lace are worn with any handsome linen skirt.

The loveliest flowered silk kimono are among the "mark-downs."

The lace and linen suits are two-thirds lace and one-third linen.

In Paris the extreme sloping shoulder is dying a natural death.

Plain shirt waists are the only kind favored for outdoor sports.

Plaited bags of pongee-color kid are among the prettiest.

Tiny spangled fans in the geisha size come for the hair.

Those silk gauze veils for motoring will wash like a glove.

Sweet peas fashion the most fetching flower hat.

Held Something Back.

"I thank heaven," remarked Senator Scaddis virtuously, "that I have never so far forgot myself as to sell out!"

And he added after a moment's pause, in the interests of historical accuracy: "No, I've never sold out—completely out. I've always had some influence left that was still worth purchasing."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"In a Trice."

Many persons use the phrase "in a trice" who have no conception of its meaning. A trice is the sixtieth part of a second of time. The hour is divided into 60 minutes, the minute into 60 seconds, and the seconds into 60 trices.
